COMPARE: College Needs vs. Wants

Although financial gurus will make it seem clear cut for what qualifies as a need versus a want, in real life it's often not that obvious. For example, if you go to college in Cleveland, while your family lives in California, and visiting them is a priority for you, then you might consider 4 flights a year a necessity. On the other hand, your extreme love of surfing might make 4 flights a year to Hawaii seem like a need, when it's possibly more of a want.

Part I: Assess Your Values Around Purchases During College

Picture yourself as a college freshman who does not have infinite money to spend. Review the list below, putting a:

- 1 next to those that are needs for you,
- 2 next to high priority wants, and
- 3 next to low priority wants.
- Leave some blank if they don't fit into your lifestyle at all.
- You can fill in the two empty boxes with missing items.

| $#$ | ITEM |  | $#$ | ITEM |
| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- |
|  | In-style clothing/shoes or the latest trends |  | Personal hobbies (membership or entry fees,  equipment, uniforms, etc) |  |
| Beauty/grooming items/services such as  mani/pedicures, massages, expensive hair  treatments, etc. |  |  | Single dorm room instead of having a roommate |  |
|  | Subscriptions (Netflix, Hulu, magazines,  newspapers, etc) |  |  | Holiday and other gift giving |
|  | Data plan on cell phone |  |  | On-campus car |
|  | Spring break vacations |  | Visits home (bus, train, airfare, gas) throughout the  semester |  |
| Up-to-date electronics (tv, stereo, video games,  phones, etc) |  | Off-campus dining (not social events -- just meals  you'll buy yourself outside dining hall) |  |  |
|  | Going out with friends (amusement parks,  shopping, movies, sports events, etc) |  |  | Gym membership |
|  | New laptop for college |  | Dining off-campus |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |

Part II: Discuss with a Partner

Reflect on the priorities you've set above, and discuss one or more of these questions with your partner:

1. Which items do you and your partner have in common? Why do you both value these items?
$\square$
2. Find 2 or 3 items you and your partner don't agree on. Why do you place different value on those items?
$\square$
3. Which of those items would be easiest to give up, if your life circumstances forced you to?
$\square$
4. Which items would be hardest to give up? Why?
$\square$
5. How do your values inform your spending decisions in this category?
$\square$
6. How much do you think it would cost you, per month, to buy all of your items ranked #1? How likely are you to have that amount of cash every month? How would you pay for it?
$\square$
